

HANKIN & MAZEL

The partners at Hankin & Mazel have been representing cooperative and condominium boards over 20 years. Our clients range from some of the largest complexes in the area to small buildings.

Despite the size of the cooperative or condominium, we provide the same personalized, quality legal services. Our partners have both served on boards of cooperative corporations, which gives them a unique insight into the role of the board of directors and a great understanding of their needs. They are members of the Bar Association of the City of New York-Cooperatives and Condominiums Committee and the New York State Bar Association-Real Estate Committee. They are frequently quoted in articles involving issues about cooperatives and condominiums and have published various articles in this area.
